Using Native Plants in Your Landscape

The Wyandotte County Extension Master Gardeners are sponsoring Go Native! Using Native Plants in Your Landscape. Presented by Lenora Larsen, who will debunk the many myths surrounding native plants, then discuss garden design and horticultural strategies to civilize these potentially unruly plants.

Lenora Larsen is a Marais des Cygnes Extension Master Gardener and member of local chapters of both the Idalia Butterfly Society and Kansas Native Plant Society. She is a proud 'science geek' with a degree in microbiology from Michigan State University, a career in molecular biology and a life-long interest in wildlife, especially the creepy and crawly. Her 2-acre garden, Long Lips Farm, exemplifies the English Estate landscape style with an emphasis on native plants, especially butterfly host plants. She is on a mission to demonstrate to other gardeners that you do not have to compromise on beauty or function when you use native plants and invite wildlife to share your garden.

This free class is open to the public. It is scheduled for Thursday, February 2, 2023, 11:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. and will be held in the Sunflower Room of the Wyandotte County Extension Office, 1208 North 79th Street, Kansas City KS. Questions? Call 913-299-9300.

Governor Kelly Proclaims January as Kansas Radon Action Month

TOPEKA – Governor Laura Kelly today proclaimed January as Radon Action month in Kansas. Through a partnership with the Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE), Kansans are urged to protect their families by testing their homes, schools and work sites for radon to minimize long-term health risks.

"Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer in the U.S. and the first in people who have never smoked," said Jason Meinholdt, director, Radiation Control Program. "The only way to know if you have elevated levels of radon in your home is to test. Test. Fix. Save a life."

Radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas that can emanate from soil and become a health hazard when concentrated inside a home, school, business or other structure. According to the Environmental Protection Agency, it is estimated that indoor radon contributes to 21,000 lung cancer deaths in the U.S. each year. Exposure causes no immediate symptoms and often goes unrecognized until serious health complications arise.

More than one in four homes across Kansas have high radon levels. DeSoto, Eudora, Gardner Junction City, Lawrence, Manhattan, Olathe, Salina, and Topeka have building codes that require new homes to be built using radon-resistant techniques. Additionally, more counties in Kansas such as Shawnee County and Douglas County have adopted this modification to their building codes.

Inexpensive radon test kits, available at local hardware and builders' supply stores and at your Kansas county extension office, can reveal the amount of radon in any building. The only way to know if radon has entered your home or building is to test for it. Those with high levels can usually be fixed with simple and affordable venting techniques. Homeowners should talk with a certified radon contractor if high levels are detected.
