Governor's Kelly and Parson Participate in Disagree Better Initiative

TOPEKA — Governor Laura Kelly joined Missouri Governor Mike Parson to announce their participation in the National Governors Association's (NGA) Disagree Better initiative. Both Governors recently sat down at Q39 Midtown for some Kansas City BBQ to discuss areas of common ground as well as how to disagree better. "Getting things done doesn't just require working across state lines — it also requires working across party lines. That's how Governor Parson and I have together grown the economy of the entire Kansas City region," Governor Laura Kelly said. "We've joined the Disagree Better initiative because we both agree — now is the time to turn down the volume on our national political conversation. Finding productive ways to overcome differences is the only way we can make progress as two states and as a country." "It's important to us to work together with our peers in Kansas to support the growth of the entire Kansas City Region," said Governor Mike Parson. "In 2019, we came together to end the Kansas City Border War and to support the relocation of two key USDA agencies to Kansas City. In 2021, we collaborated on the National Security Crossroads initiative. While there are plenty of things we do agree on, we understand that there are plenty that we don't too. As the 2024 election cycle heats up, we want to show the people of Missouri and Kansas that even when we disagree, we can disagree better." Governors Kelly and Parson encourage Americans to find common ground where possible and agree to disagree better. They are also encouraged to follow the #DisagreeBetter hashtag on social media to learn more about the initiative.

Disagree Better Initiative Launched in July, Disagree Better is a yearlong initiative to help Americans learn the skills of healthy conflict. The effort aims to change the political behavior of both voters and elected officials, showing that the right kind of conflict often leads to better policy, can be more successful politically than negative campaigning, and is the pathway to restoring trust in our political institutions.

Governor Kelly Announces Nearly $15M for 65 Crime Victim Assistance Agencies

TOPEKA – Governor Laura Kelly today announced that nearly $15 million in federal grants have been awarded to 65 crime victims and survivor services organizations. "Crime victims and survivor services are critical to the well-being of impacted Kansans," Governor Laura Kelly said. "This funding ensures these organizations can continue providing services to get victims and survivors the support and justice they deserve."

Services include court advocacy and criminal justice support, provided by law enforcement agencies and prosecutors' offices; crisis counseling, provided by sexual assault crisis centers and mental health centers; forensic interviews, provided by children's advocacy centers; and shelter, transportation, and transitional housing, provided by domestic violence programs.
