KDADS Partners with Public Consulting Group to Transform Services for Individuals with Disabilities

Kansas Department for Aging and Disability Services (KDADS) Secretary Laura Howard today announced a partnership with Public Consulting Group (PCG) to assist in the state's plan to modernize the Intellectual and Developmental Disability (IDD) Home and Community-Based Services (HCBS) Waiver by addressing waitlist and workforce challenges, and supporting the state in the development of a new Community Support Waiver

"My administration is focused on enhancing services for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities," Governor Laura Kelly said. "By developing a new Community Support Waiver and restructuring support systems through this partnership, we are taking a significant step toward better serving these Kansans."

The CSW for individuals with IDD is designed to provide a limited set of supports for those who have a place to live in the community, allowing them to continue to live independently and promoting community living and integration.

In 2022, the Kansas State Legislature assembled the Special Committee on Intellectual and Developmental Disability Waiver Modernization to review and recommend options for waiver alternatives and modernization based on input from officials from other states, researchers, advocacy groups, parents, and individuals with disabilities.

"Thanks to the work and recommendations of the Modernization Committee and our community partners, and now onboarding PCG with their proven track record in HCBS waiver development and compliance assistance, we believe we are on the right path to addressing the needs of people on the state's IDD waiting list more effectively and efficiently," KDAD Secretary Laura Howard said. "Kansas is committed to ensuring individuals have the opportunity to live independently with supports in their communities."

The development of the CSW is at the heart of the initiative. Designed with input from a diverse group of stakeholders, including state agencies, Community Development Disability Organizations (CDDOs), families, and current participants, the CSW aims to address current service barriers and enhance service delivery. The primary goal is to reduce waiting lists and ensure services are accessible to those in need. This demonstrates the state's commitment to building a support system that reflects the community's needs.

The PCG partnership includes strategic grant funding to support the transformation and improvement of services. Funding initiatives will focus on specific service areas like aiding sheltered workshop providers with compliance with new regulations, restructuring CDDOs to eliminate conflicts of interest, and ensuring the impartiality of case management.

"Through these efforts, Kansas and PCG are working together to ensure services are delivered fairly, efficiently, and with the best interests of individuals with disabilities in mind," KDADS Long Term Services and Supports Commissioner Michele Heydon said. "This collaboration is a testament to the state's commitment to enhancing the quality of life for individuals with disabilities through innovative solutions and community-focused initiatives."

Direct deposit is the best way to get tax refund

Direct deposit is the best way to receive a tax refund. The IRS encourages taxpayers to file by the April 15 federal tax deadline and choose direct deposit to receive any refund they may be owed.

Benefits of direct deposit

* It's fast. The fastest way for taxpayers to get their refund is to file electronically and choose direct deposit. Taxpayers who file a paper return can also choose direct deposit, but it will take longer to process the return and get a refund.

* It's secure. Since refunds are electronically deposited, there's no risk of having a paper check stolen or lost in the mail.

* It's easy. Taxpayers can simply follow the instructions when selecting direct deposit as a refund method and enter their account information as directed. Taxpayers can find their routing and account numbers on their online banking page, banking statements or a personal check.

* It provides options. Taxpayers can split a refund into several financial accounts. These include checking, savings, health savings and certain retirement accounts. They should use IRS Form 8888, Allocation of Refund, Including Savings Bond Purchases, to deposit a refund in up to three accounts. This form can't be used to designate part of a refund to pay tax preparers.

Taxpayers should deposit refunds into U.S. bank accounts in their own name, their spouse's name or both. They should avoid making a deposit into accounts owned by others. Some banks require both spouses' names on the account to deposit a tax refund from a joint return. Taxpayers should check with their bank for direct deposit rules.

Get a bank account

Taxpayers who don't have a bank account can visit the FDIC website for information on banks that let them open an account online and how to choose the right account. Veterans can use the Veterans Benefits Banking Program for access to financial services at participating banks.

Mobile apps may be an option

Some mobile apps and prepaid debit cards allow for direct deposit of tax refunds. They must have routing and account numbers associated with them that can be entered on a tax return. Taxpayers should check with the mobile app provider or financial institution to confirm which numbers to use.
