History's Biggest AI Spending Boom: Opportunity or Overhype?

Joe Shearrer, CPFA® is Vice President and Wealth Advisor at Fervent Wealth Management.

This morning started differently than I expected. My daughter has been dealing with a virus for several days, and after a virtual visit with her doctor, we learned she may have chicken pox. As any parent knows, moments like that come with a lot of uncertainty. Are you sure it's chickenpox? How severe will it be? How long will recovery take? Will anyone else in the house get sick? You don't have all the answers immediately, but you still have to make decisions and move forward.

Interestingly, I was already planning to write about the massive investment in artificial intelligence. While the topics couldn't seem more different, they share something in common: uncertainty.

A Gold Rush for the Digital Age

A gold rush is unfolding right before our eyes. Only this time, the prospectors aren't heading west with pickaxes and wagons. They're building data centers, buying computer chips, and spending unprecedented sums on AI. Companies like Microsoft, Amazon, Alphabet, and Meta are investing hundreds of billions of dollars into AI-related infrastructure. The scale of spending is unlike anything we've seen since the early days of the internet.

The excitement is understandable. AI has the potential to transform how businesses operate, how consumers interact with technology, and how work gets done across nearly every industry. But before investors assume AI is a guaranteed path to profits, history offers an important reminder: revolutionary technologies don't always produce revolutionary investment returns.

We've Seen This Story Before

Every generation experiences a breakthrough that promises to change the world. Railroads connected the country. Electricity transformed daily life. The internet reshaped communication, commerce, and entertainment. After all, technology enabled us to have a virtual visit with my daughter's doctor without having to take her to the clinic.

In each case, the technology ultimately delivered on its promise. Yet many investors who rushed into those trends failed to achieve the returns they expected. Innovation and investment success aren't always the same thing. The challenge is that some of history's greatest innovations created enormous economic value, but not necessarily for every investor who rushed to participate.

The Multi-Billion Dollar Question

Today's AI boom presents a similar challenge. The debate is no longer whether AI will matter. It already does. The real question is whether the enormous investments being made today will generate enough future profits to justify current expectations.

Technology companies are engaged in an arms race to build AI capabilities faster than their competitors. New data centers are being constructed at a record pace. Demand for advanced semiconductor chips continues to surge. The spending is massive because the opportunity is massive. However, investors should remember that every boom looks obvious while it's happening. The difficult part is determining whether expectations have become too optimistic.

The Real Winners May Surprise You

One lesson from previous technological revolutions is that the biggest winners aren't always the companies making the loudest headlines. During the California Gold Rush, many prospectors spent years chasing fortunes they never found. Meanwhile, businesses selling picks, shovels, and supplies often generated more reliable profits.

The same dynamic may be unfolding today. While investors focus on AI software and chatbots, the infrastructure supporting the AI revolution may prove just as important. Semiconductor manufacturers, data center operators, cloud providers, utilities, and power generation companies all stand to benefit from the enormous buildout occurring behind the scenes.

What This Means for Investors

For many investors, the rapid

RESOLUTION NO. R-39-26

A RESOLUTION APPROVING THE ADOPTION OF THE RIDEKC REGIONAL FARE POLICY

WHEREAS, the Unified Government Transportation Department ("Transportation") provides transportation services in collaboration with regional partners to support a seamless, customer-focused transit network that enhances mobility, improves regional connectivity, and simplifies the rider experience regardless of service provider or jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, Transportation has coordinated over several years with its regional partners to develop RideKC Regional Fare Policy, which provides a unified, consistent, and transparent framework for how transit fares are structured, collected, and managed across the Kansas City metropolitan region; and

WHEREAS, the policy standardizes fare structures across transit modes and providers by establishing uniform service types, rider categories, and fare levels and ensures equity by maintaining reduced fare programs for seniors, individuals with disabilities, Medicare cardholders, and low-income riders, while also supporting free fare provisions for certain groups such as young children and streetcar users; and

WHEREAS, the policy introduces modern fare practices, including account-based systems, mobile and contactless payments, and fare capping, which guarantees riders never pay more than the equivalent cost of a daily, weekly, or monthly pass, which remove financial and technological barriers, making transit more accessible and affordable for all users; and

WHEREAS, the policy promotes operational efficiency and financial sustainability by supporting consistent farebox recovery goals, reducing administrative complexity, and enabling improved data collection and revenue sharing among participating agencies; provides a framework for coordinated pass programs with employers, educational institutions, and social service organizations, expanding access to transit for targeted populations; and enhances regional integration and positions the transit system for future innovation and scalability; and

WHEREAS, adoption of the Regional Fare Policy by the Commission is a critical step in advancing a cohesive, regionally integrated transit system, formalizing the Unified Government's participation in a shared fare structure and allows for the implementation of consistent fare policies and technologies across the region beginning June 1, 2026, and supporting broader regional goals of increasing ridership, improving equity, reducing congestion, and strengthening the overall effectiveness of public transportation services.

rise of AI creates a familiar fear: “What if I miss out?” It’s a reasonable question. AI may become one of the most important technological developments of our lifetime and the opportunities are enormous. However, history teaches us that technological revolutions often create both tremendous wealth and tremendous speculation. The challenge isn’t determining whether AI will change the world. The challenge is distinguishing between genuine opportunity and excessive enthusiasm.

As a parent, I would love a crystal ball that could tell me exactly how the next week with potential chicken pox is going to unfold. Unfortunately, that isn’t how life works. Investing is no different. We don’t know exactly how the AI revolution will play out, which companies will ultimately benefit the most, or whether today’s expectations are too high or too low. What we can do is prepare for a range of outcomes rather than bet everything on a single prediction.

Have a blessed week!

Social Security Board of Trustees:
Projection for Combined Trust Funds
Remains Consistent with Prior Year

The Social Security Board of Trustees released its annual report on the financial status of the Social Security Trust Funds. The combined reserves of the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and Disability Insurance (OASI and DI) Trust Funds are projected to have dedicated revenue to pay all scheduled benefits and associated administrative costs until 2034, the same as last year, with 83 percent of benefits payable at that time.

The OASI Trust Fund reserves are projected to become depleted in the fourth quarter of 2032, with 78 percent of benefits payable at that time. The DI Trust Fund reserves are projected to remain positive throughout the 75-year projection period.

In the 2026 Annual Report to Congress, the Trustees announced:

- The reserves of the combined OASI and DI Trust Funds declined by $160 billion in 2025 to $2.56 trillion.
- The annual cost of the program is projected to exceed annual income in 2026 and remain higher throughout the 75-year projection period. Total cost began to be higher than total income in 2021. Social Security’s cost has exceeded its non-interest income since 2010.

- If Congress does not act, combined trust fund reserves are projected to be depleted in 2034. At that time, there would be sufficient income to pay 83 percent of scheduled benefits.

“We are committed to protecting and strengthening Social Security. This year, we have made historic improvements in providing best-in-class service for the more than 330 million Americans we serve. Said Frank J. Bisignano, Commissioner of Social Security. “To protect the promise of Social Security, it is important for lawmakers and the Social Security Administration to work together to ensure the trust funds continue to provide financial stability now and for future generations.”

Other highlights of the Trustees Report include:

- Total income, including interest, to the combined OASI and DI Trust Funds amounted to $1.45 trillion in 2025. ($1.32 trillion from net payroll tax contributions, $58 billion from income taxation of benefits, and $69 billion in interest)

- Total expenditures from the combined OASI and DI Trust Funds amounted to $1.61 trillion in 2025.

- Social Security paid benefits of $1.60 trillion in calendar year 2025. There were 70 million beneficiaries at the end of the calendar year.

- The projected actuarial deficit over the 75-year long-range period is 4.42 percent of taxable payroll - up from the 3.82 percent projected in last year’s report.

- During 2025, an estimated 185 million people had earnings covered by Social Security and paid payroll taxes.

- The cost of $7 billion to administer the Social Security program in 2025 was 0.4 percent of total expenditures.

- The combined trust fund reserves earned interest at an effective annual rate of 2.6 percent in 2025.
