Stock Market Insights

September Says Fall. The Market Says Not So Fast.

Joe Shearrer, CPFA® is Vice President and Wealth Advisor at Fervent Wealth Management.

There is something I always enjoy about September. Even though the temperatures don't always cooperate, September feels like the beginning of fall. The kids are back in school, football is underway, the days are getting shorter, and you start thinking about cooler evenings, changing leaves and everything that comes with fall in Missouri.

Of course, Missouri has a funny way of reminding us that the calendar doesn't always tell the whole story. This week, we're looking at temperatures pushing 98 degrees. So much for fall.

The stock market can be a little like Missouri weather. What the calendar says is coming and what we're actually experiencing don't always line up. As we enter September, investors are being reminded that this has historically been the weakest month of the year for stocks. The S&P 500 got off to a rough start this month, falling 0.7% on the first trading day. At the same time, the 10-year Treasury yield climbed toward 4.8%, while concerns about inflation, the Iran conflict, oil prices, and the Federal Reserve's next move have increased.

There are some legitimate reasons for investors to be cautious. Since 1950, September has produced an average decline of roughly 0.6% for the S&P 500 and has historically been its weakest month. Midterm election years can also bring additional volatility. However, I don't think that means investors should automatically assume a major selloff is coming. In fact, two important pieces of the traditional bearish argument may be missing this year.

First, there is the political picture.

Midterm elections can create uncertainty about taxes and government spending. Current expectations point toward the possibility of divided government following the election. That could actually limit the likelihood of major changes to tax policy or federal spending. Divided government can create plenty of political frustration, but it can also make sweeping legislation more difficult to pass. The election will certainly be important, but investors may not have as much policy uncertainty to worry about as they have during some previous election cycles.

Second, and perhaps the more important factor, corporate earnings.

Companies have been reporting surprisingly strong profits. LPL Research recently noted that second-quarter S&P 500 earnings growth was tracking above 30%, with earnings strength becoming increasingly broad across the market. That's important because, eventually, stock prices have to be supported by corporate profits. AI continues to drive enormous investment from some of the world's largest companies, but investors are beginning to see the capital expenditure translate into revenue and earnings growth as well.

That doesn't mean stocks can't fall. They absolutely can. The bigger concern right now is interest rates.

The 10-year Treasury yield is approaching 5%, and markets have dramatically increased the odds of a Federal Reserve rate hike this month. At the same time, renewed conflict involving Iran has pushed oil prices higher, creating another potential source of inflation. Higher oil prices can lead to higher inflation. Higher inflation can keep interest rates elevated. And higher interest rates can put pressure on stock valuations. That's the part of the market I am watching most closely.

The S&P 500 has still gained more than 11% this year despite the recent weakness. After a strong run like that, a 5%, 8% or even 10% pullback would not necessarily be unusual. That's an important distinction. A market correction doesn't automatically mean the underlying investment story has changed. For long-term investors, I think the question isn't whether stocks will experience a decline. At some point, they will.

The question is whether that decline represents a fundamental change in the economy and corporate earnings, or simply a normal bout of market volatility. Right now, the answer isn't clear. Interest rates and inflation deserve our attention, but corporate earnings remain a significant source of strength.

And that brings me back to Missouri weather. September tells us fall is coming, even when we're sweating through 98-degree temperatures. The calendar can tell us what season we're entering, but it doesn't tell us exactly what the weather will be. The same is true for the stock market. September's history tells us volatility may be coming. It doesn't tell us exactly what stocks will do.

So rather than reacting to the calendar, or to a few uncomfortable days in the market, I think investors are better served by watching the fundamentals, staying disciplined and making sure their portfolios are built for more than just the current season. After all, in Missouri, we know better than most: Just because fall is on the calendar doesn't mean summer is finished.

Have a blessed week!

Joe Shearrer

IN THE MATTER OF THE MURILLO-LONG/LONG MARRIAGE

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF WYANDOTTE COUNTY, KANSAS CIVIL COURT DEPARTMENT
In the Matter of the Marriage of: CATALINA MURILLO-LONG, Petitioner and THEODORE S. LONG, Respondent
Case No. WY-2025-DM-000973

PETITION FOR DIVORCE

COMES NOW the Petitioner, Catalina Murillo-Long, by and through her attorney, Joseph A. DeWoskin, and for her Petition for Divorce states and alleges to the Court:

1. Petitioner is and has been a resident of the State of Kansas for more than sixty (60) days immediately preceding the filing of her petition currently residing at 2840 N. 45th Terrace, Kansas City, Kansas 66104.

2. To the best of Petitioner's knowledge Respondent is currently residing at 1006 Grand Blvd., Apt 303, Kansas City, Missouri 64106.

3. The parties were lawfully married on October 5, 2013, in Kansas City, Wyandotte County, Kansas; and have been husband and wife since that date.

4. The parties separated on or around May 2016.

5. Petitioner is currently employed by Aquinas Home Health.

6. Respondent's employment status is unknown.

7. There was one child born of said marriage of Petitioner and Respondent, and subject to jurisdiction of this Court to wit: J.L., born in 2012.

8. Petitioner is not now pregnant.

9. The minor child currently resides with Petitioner at her address and has since August 2018 and has lived in Kansas for at least six months prior to the filing of this Petition.

10. Petitioner knows of no other custody proceedings concerning the minor child that is currently pending in this state or any other state.

11. Petitioner has not participated in any litigation concerning the custody of said child in this state or any other state.

12. Petitioner knows of no other person not a party to this proceeding having physical custody of the minor child or visitation rights or claiming to have such rights in regard to said child.

13. The best interest of the minor child dictates that Petitioner should be granted sole legal custody and sole physical custody with Petitioner having primary residential custody of the minor child with Respondent being granted no parenting time in that it has been over four years since Respondent had any interaction with the minor child.

14. Presumably Respondent is employed at a substantial wage and child support should be awarded for the benefit of the minor child pursuant to Kansas law and Kansas Child Support Guidelines.

15. Petitioner is employed at a substantial wage and Respondent, it is believed, is employed at a substantial wage and it is Petitioner's belief that Respondent is able to care for himself and no maintenance should be awarded from Petitioner to Respondent. Furthermore, due to the length of separation of the parties, it is unlikely that either party would be able to meet the statutory requirement to prove the need of maintenance so neither party should be ordered to pay maintenance one to the other.

16. There is no reasonable likelihood that the marriage of Petitioner and Respondent can be preserved and, therefore, the marriage is irretrievably broken.

DOC_147495510 (1).pdf

17. Both parties should be responsible for his or her own attorney fees unless Respondent takes action that intentionally increases Petitioner's attorney fees.

18. Petitioner and Respondent have accumulated property during the course of the marriage, as well as certain debts, and Petitioner requests that the marital property and debts be divided in a fair and equitable manner.

19. Petitioner is not a member of the Armed Forces of the United States.

20. Respondent is not a member of the Armed Forces of the United States.

21. Petitioner be ordered to pay the costs of this action.

22. Petitioner requests that she be returned to her maiden name of Catalina Murillo.

WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that the marriage of Petitioner and Respondent be dissolved; that the marital property and marital debts be divided in a fair and equitable manner; that the Petitioner's separate property be set aside to the Petitioner; that the Respondent's separate property be set aside to the Respondent; for the Petitioner to be awarded sole legal and sole physical custody of the minor child with Petitioner having primary residential custody and her address being used for educational and mailing purposes, with no parenting time being granted to Respondent, that child support be ordered to be paid in accordance with Kansas law and Kansas Child Support Guidelines; that Petitioner not be ordered to pay maintenance to Respondent and that Respondent not be ordered to pay maintenance to Petitioner; that Petitioner and Respondent be responsible for their individual attorney fees, unless Respondent takes action that intentionally increases Petitioner's attorney fees; that Petitioner be ordered to pay the costs of this action; that Petitioner be returned to her maiden name of Catalina Murillo; and for other and further orders, judgments and decrees as may seem just and proper.

LEGAL NOTICE

Respectfully Submitted:

Applications Open for Public Works Citizens Academy

New program gives residents a behind-the-scenes look at Public Works

KANSAS CITY, KS - Applications are now open for the Unified Government Public Works Department's first Public Works Citizens Academy, a six-week program designed to give residents a closer look at how Public Works serves Kansas City, Kansas.

Beginning October 14, participants will meet the employees behind many of the services residents encounter every day and learn how streets, infrastructure, trash and recycling, wastewater, stormwater, construction projects, fleet operations, mapping, and other Public Works services come together across the community.

"This is an opportunity to take people beyond what they see from the street and show them how Public Works actually works," said Public Works Director Troy Shaw. "Residents will meet the people doing the work, see some of our facilities and equipment, and get a better understanding of the decisions and challenges involved in providing these services every day."

The academy will include presentations, demonstrations, facility visits, and hands-on activities led by Public Works employees. Topics will include:

- * An introduction to Public Works and how the department serves the community

- * Street maintenance and traffic operations

- * Solid waste, fleet services, asset management, and geospatial services

- * Wastewater and stormwater systems

- * Engineering, infrastructure, and construction

- * A final program and graduation

Classes will be held from 5:30 to 7:30 PM on October 14, 21, and 28 and November 4, 10, and 18 at Public Works facilities and Unified Government locations throughout Kansas City, Kansas.

Participation is free, but space is limited to 25 participants.

Applicants must be Kansas City, Kansas, residents who are at least 18 years old. High school seniors who are 17 may also apply with permission from a parent or legal guardian.

Residents interested in participating should visit wycokck.org/PWacademy to learn more and apply online. Residents who would like to complete a paper application should dial 3-1-1 and ask to speak with Public Works' Community Engagement Officer, Dave Reno.

Applications will be accepted through Wednesday, September 30.

The Public Works Citizens Academy is part of the department's ongoing effort to help residents better understand the public infrastructure and services they rely on every day while creating more opportunities for residents and Public Works employees to learn directly from one another.
